

Colourful Cocktails

Have you ever seen cocktails on display and looking so good that you feel you just want to indulge? That would be the feeling you would get at the New Park Inn in Westlands, Nairobi, where they love adding colour to your drinks. We sample three of their signature cocktails made by their expert mixologist Onesmus Munyao...

TEQUILA SUNRISE

The two-toned appearance makes this drink a welcome gesture on a cool day like it is on a hot day. Without ice cubes, the drink is overly sweet thanks to the grenadine syrup, which is toned down by the ice. The combination of tequila and orange juice makes it a good choice for brunch because the ratio of juice to alcohol is equal just like a mimosa.

SUNRISE MOCKTAIL

It's perfect for the non-drinkers and those who have a sweet tooth. You could give this as a welcome drink if you have guests in the house just to give a dazzle to your wine glasses. It contains orange juice and mint and a bit of syrup to taste.

WHISKY SOUR

Any cocktail that has whisky must be for the "ones that can handle their drink". It won't make you sour, but it will definitely get you tipsy. The cocktail contains whiskey, lime juice and Angsrtta bitters with egg white. You don't taste the egg, but the bitters remain very distinct in the drink. If you down three or four glasses, you definitely become a winner in the competition of the strongest.

FOUR POINTS

If you are a beer lover, here is something to smile about. At Four Points Hotel (formerly Best Western Hotel) in Hulrigham, along Arwings Kodhek Road, Nairobi, it's happy hour everyday from 4pm to 8pm. You get your kraft beer straight from the tap into the cup for Sh480. Ever heard about 'BOGOF'? At Four Points, once you buy one you get another one free.

KYMMS GARDENS

Located along Gitanga Road in Nairobi, Friday evenings at Kymm Gardens can never get better. For no limited happy hour time, all cocktails go for Sh500 instead of the usual Sh750.

BIG SQUARE, GARDEN CITY

Thursdays looks like the extension of the girls' night out at the Big Square in Garden City mall along the Thika Super Highway. For the price of Sh800, you can grab three different cocktails for you and your girls. Usually, a single cocktail goes for Sh400. Wait... That's a super happy hour offer!
